TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Stephen LaFleur recently presented a talk on "Sexual Abuse: Recognition, Reporting, and Long-Term Effects on Victims" to my education students in the Department of Special Services here on campus. He specifically addressed these issues as it relates to classroom teachers. His talk was extremely informative, well-organized, and comprehensive. I was impressed with the rapport he had with my students, as well as the thoroughness with which he fielded questions and concerns.

Mr. LaFleur appears to have possess the personal and professional skills that will enable him to pursue and to succeed in any endeavor he chooses. I highly recommend him and feel that he will be an asset to your program.

Feel free to contact me if you need further information.
